THE 2007 INDUS INSIGHT LUNCHEON

Want to know how to leapfrog the rest of the world instead of continually playing catch-up? Well, Ketan Patel is your man. As a renowned investment banker, strategist, and best-selling author, Ketan Patel delivered the keynote speech at an inaugural event entitled The 2007 Indus Insight. Taking place at Bombay Brasserie in London, the event was organised by leading British charity Sewa International, which donated £21,000 to Macmillan Cancer and a further £14,000 to Refuge during the course of the luncheon.

Former head of the Strategic Group at Goldman Sachs, Ketan Patel was the chief futurologist for the firm. His unique insights into why the world works the way it does in terms of politics, economics and business enabled him to reveal useful and unique insights to the great and the good who turned up to the event in droves.
